JUNIOR TO SENIOR

When all the knowledge of all the kinds,
Doesn't help me to reason,
Why do I feel,
There is nothing to know,
But what the wind has told me in its
seasons,
The stars of night gleam down on me,
And help me see what I will see,
Will the moon shine down and be a
lantern on the path for me,
The path in its infinity says it will be good for me.

People come and people go,
In their time they often sow their wild
oats as we shall know,
They try to find what they will be,
But they become what we will see,
We will not understand its mean,
How can I show you that I know,
What we will see is what they have seen.

Robert Straw

Class History

The class of '82 can be remembered as excelling in athletics, academics, and school activities. Our memories are more detailed and although many may seem insignificant, they are often the ones that leave lasting impressions.

When we first entered JMB in September of 1978 our feelings ranged from fear to awe to utter confusion, afraid of not seeing a familiar face, afraid of the unknown, and afraid of appearing as naive as we really were. We were in awe of the beautiful senior women and the much larger guys. Our confusion ranged from finding our classes in a backward world to figuring out who to sit with at lunch. We started getting our act together with the election of class officers. We elected Scott Wulff president, Beth Beauchamp vice-president, Dana Yaw secretary, Candie Smith treasurer and Francis Hooks advocate. Mrs. Walters and Miss Vice got the dubious honors of being our advisors and we have been lucky to have their guidance for four years. Our first taste of competition came during Homecoming. We enjoyed making our float more than the judges enjoyed looking at it. We bounced back with a second place in the hall decorating competition. At the end of our first year, we had approximately $300 in our treasury, most coming from our chicken barbeque.

We put everything together in our sophomore year, walking away with almost everything. With Beth Beauchamp as President, Francis Hooks as vice-president, Candi Smith as secretary, Cheri Todd as treasurer, and Charlie Dolbey as advocate; we were first in Homecoming float competition, Christmas hall decorations and during class competition week, we had the greatest legs and the best leap-frogger. Our class spirit was shown in our two main fund raisers. Our chicken barbeque and rock concert left us with over $1000 in our treasury.

Academics grew harder and more time was spent studying. But we could never study enough for Mr. Peterman's multiple choice tests.

In our Junior year, we re-elected Beth Beauchamp and Francis Hooks as president and vice-president and elected Cheri Todd secretary, Tyree Nutter treasurer and Jay Jackson advocate. We got second in both Homecoming float competition and class competition week. Our comedy presentation of Lock, Stock and Lipstick, starring Shelley Rayne and Trey Patt was a huge success. Three members of our class traveled overseas through the American Field Service with Shelley Rayne going to South Africa, Ginny Gourley to New Zealand, and Meg Webster to Brazil. During the Junior-Senior banquet, we found out how the Seniors felt about us. For example, giving Elyn Hogg, Pat Hopkins, Kathryn Levitz and Laurie Cathcart lead boots. Our annual chicken barbeque and class play increased our treasury.

Finally we were the Seniors and wondered if the freshmen were in awe of us. The officers for our last year were Beth Beauchamp — president, Charlie Dolbey — vice-president, Dale Shoemaker — treasurer, Terri Rose — secretary, Kathy Gordy — advocate, and Scott Wulff — historian. We handily won class competition week with an overwhelming win on All Sports night. Our class play was again a success with Terri Rose, Wayne Kemble, Tracy Clark, Meg Webster, Molly Bicknell, Charlie Dolbey, and Dale Shoemaker, starring in "It Happens Every Summer".

The impression that we have made will fade in the minds of many, but to the members of the Class of '82, the memories will be lasting and will be a significant part of their lives.

We hope that the future will bring to each of us as many good times as we have had in the past four years and that each will achieve the goals that they have set for themselves.

It is hard to say good-bye to friends that you have shared so much with — the good, the bad, happy and sad. Time has slipped away quickly. As we go our separate ways we won't forget the memories and moments we shared together as the class of 1982.

PROM

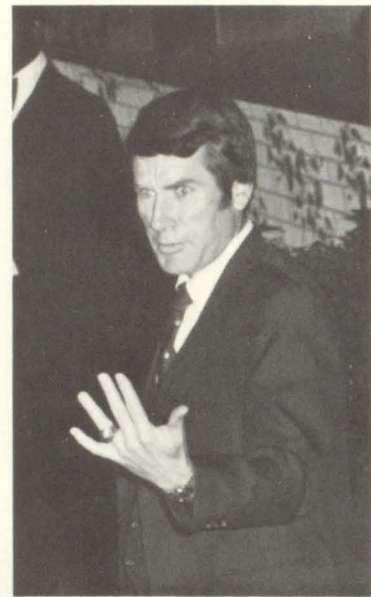

DECORATING

We've Only Just Begun

Bennett's Prom was held on Friday, May 14, 1982 at 8:30 p.m. in the Midway Room of the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center. The theme was taken from our class motto "We've Only Just Begun". The Midway Room was decorated in our class colors midnight blue and silver. A gazebo, decorated with live plants and placed in the middle of the room was a perfect setting for pictures. Music for the evening was provided by "Majestic", a band from Baltimore. The grand march began promptly at 10:00 p.m. The class song "Don't Look Back" by Boston, was played during the introduction of couples. The Prom ended at 11:30 p.m. Everyone had an evening that will long be remembered.

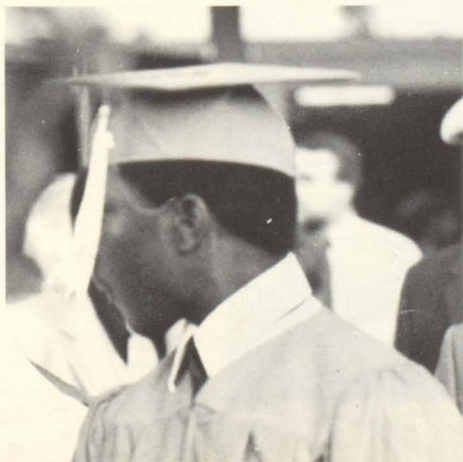

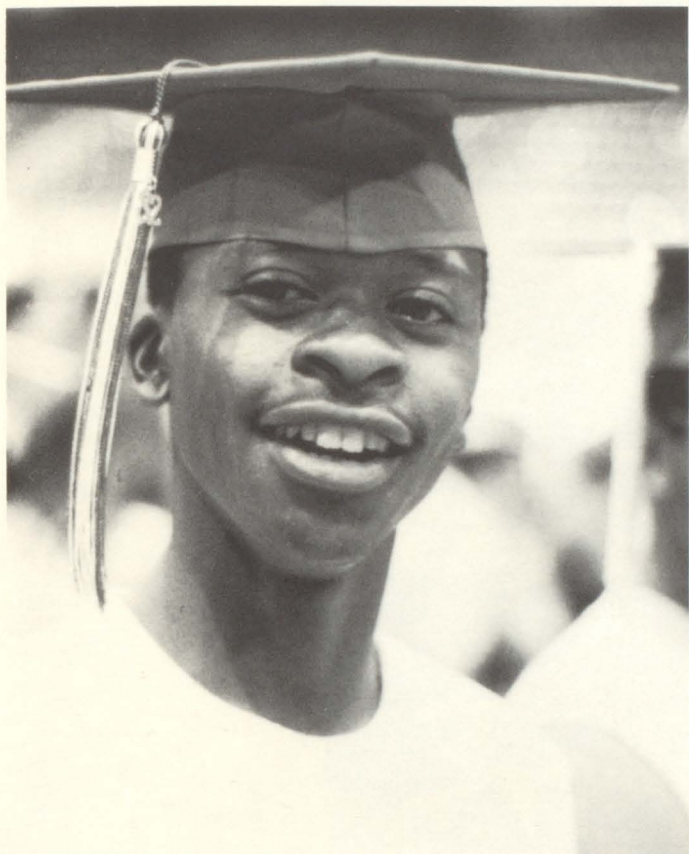

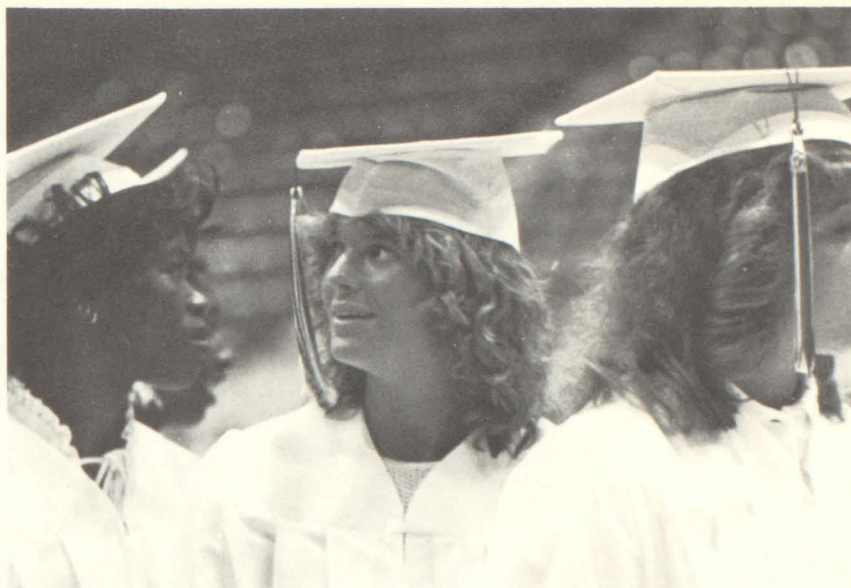

FINAL DAY . . .

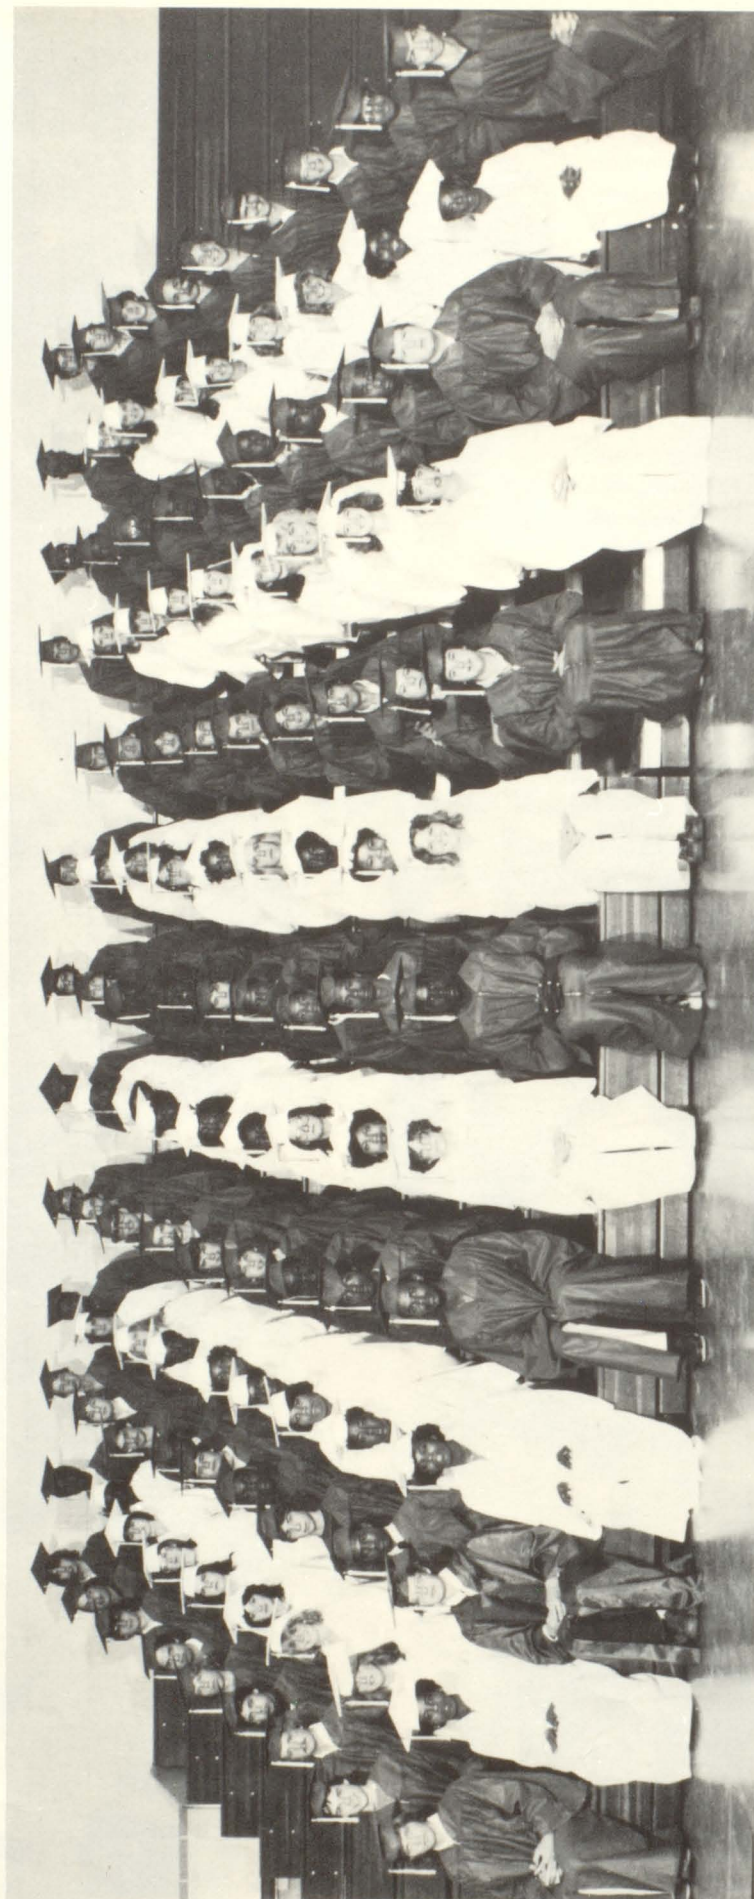

Line-up

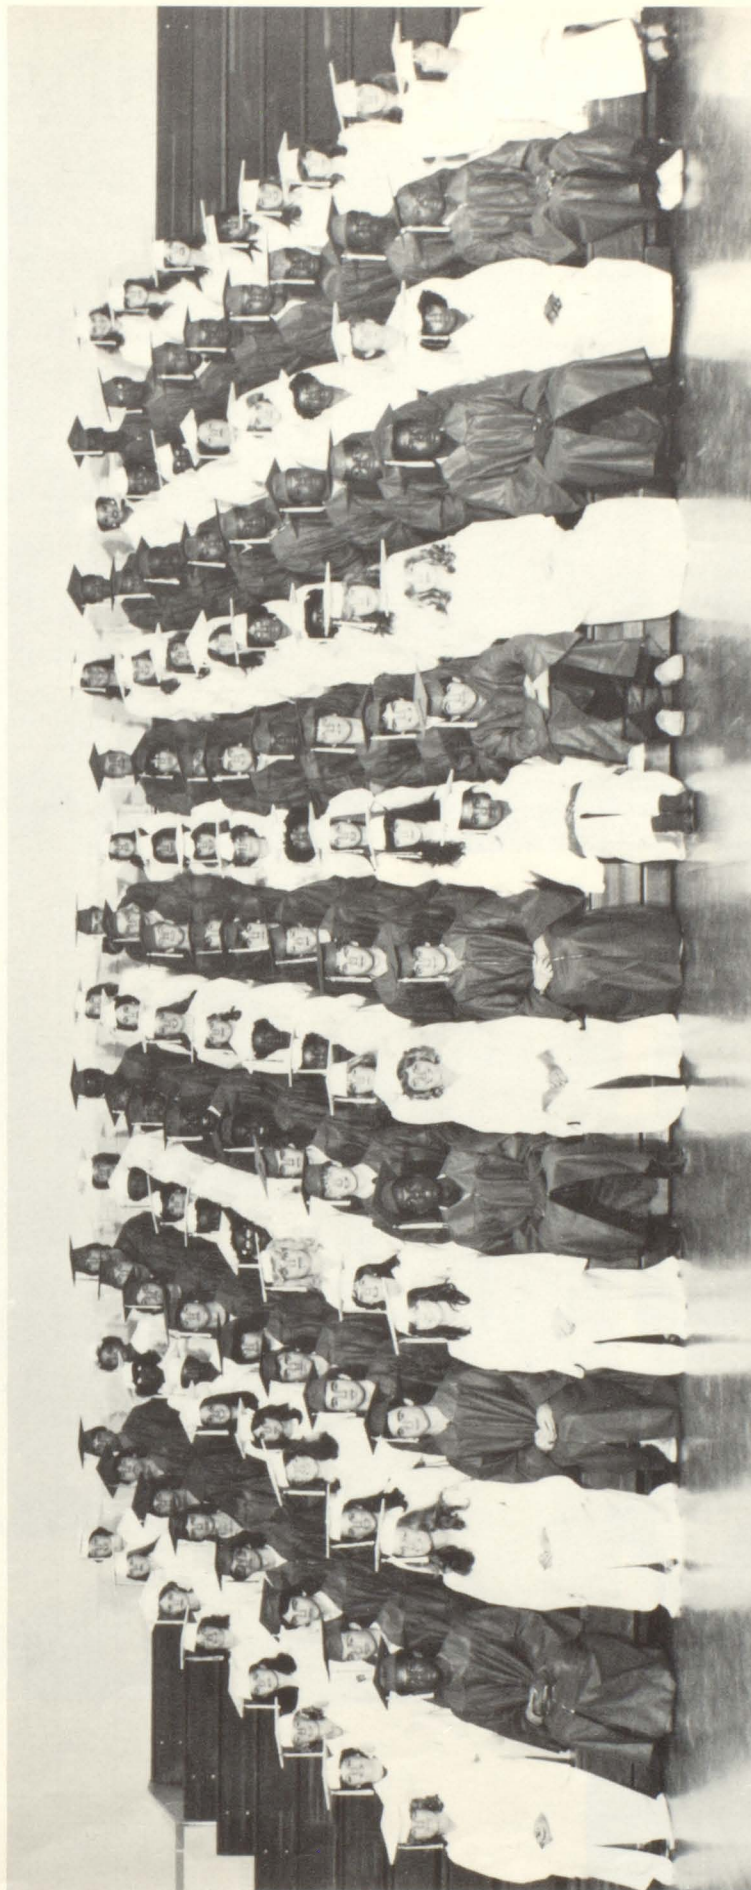

How many times did we have to practice the up and down motions? How many times did the first row of boys mess up? It was all so fun but, yet all so short. Graduation practice was fun and exciting, we all could not wait till the final hour, the final count down. Then it was here before we knew it. The first row of boys finally got their act together and when your name was called, you felt proud and excited. For a very short minute you wanted to let everyone know that you were proud and excited and happy that you finally made it down the long row and that you don't want to look back at all the tests, homework, and pressure. A new day has broken and we hope to make something of our new life and ventures and expectations. June 2, 1982.

BENNETT

Mary Jane Linn

When there were problems that needed solving or questions that needed answering about different types of writing or lines, who was there to pitch-in and help? Mrs. Mary Jane Linn. Since this is our last year, we thought that it would be nice to leave something from us with her.

For all of her time, care, and devotion, we would like to dedicate this Yearbook to her. We take this opportunity to express our appreciation for her years of advising the staff and making the yearbooks successful. Without her help, the Yearbook Staff would not have been able to survive. Thank you for everything, especially for being you.

DEDICATES:

Thomas Bailey

Best is a word attributed to John Wayne, Babe Ruth, Tom Selleck, Al Lucinder, and the Baltimore Orioles. Bennett's Best—can be applied to its championships in football, wrestling, and boys' track. These are the sports that another "Best" has been associated with. This Yearbook is dedicated to our Best, Mr. Thomas Bailey. He is more than a dedicated teacher and a coach, he is also a friend to the students.

This is what Bennett thinks about its Best: "Mr. Bailey was very easy to work with and talk to. What impressed me most was his concern for the kids he worked with (coached). He looked at the total person; not just a guy out on the track." (Mr. Peterman)

"He is one of the best coaches there is. It will be a great loss to Bennett when he retires." (Hughes Wright)

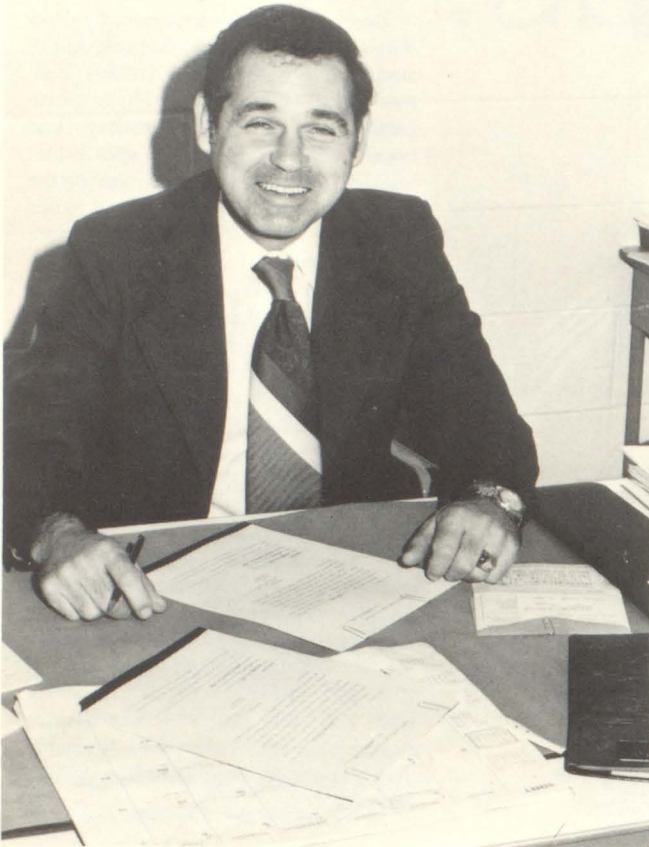

"Without Mr. Bailey's friendship and acceptance, I probably wouldn't have made it through my first year of teaching. He will do anything for anybody if they ask, and he accepts people for what they are. When he was a prize fighter, his nick-name was 'Terrible Tom.' He's an indispensable friend." (Mr. Dittrich).

'Guys And Dolls' Praised

By RUTHEPSTEIN

SALISBURY — Lady Luck rolled the dice and it was the audience that won as James M. Bennet Senior High School produced "Guys and Dolls."

From the first strains of the overture to the closing notes of the finale it was sevens all the way as Damon Runyon's story of the gambling guys and their dolls of New York found an exuberant, talented cast that made lines, songs and dances vibrant and new.

There are two love stories in "Guys and Dolls." One is that of Adelaide, leader of the Hot Box girls, and her elusive fiance of 14 years, Nathan Detroit, the gambler who bets only on a sure thing.

Tracy Clark was a beautiful Miss Adelaide whose clear, melodious voice was sweet and tender or brash and belting as the song required. Trey Patt, as Nathan, delivered his lines with perfect timing and didn't miss a laugh. Adelaide's and Nathan's duet, "Sue Me," was funny, touching and well sung.

The second love story is that of Sarah, the Salvation

Army reformer, and Sky Materson, who, to win a bet from Nathan, convinces Sarah to accompany him to Havana in exchange for his guarantee of 12 sinners to appear at a Salvation Army meeting.

Sarah is a difficult role requiring subtle reactions and rapid changes in personality as Sarah reluctantly falls in love with Sky and then changes from a naive savior of souls to a tippy, free spirit and back to a repressed soldier.

Alden Cavanaugh, as Sarah, did a fine job in the Havana scene with exactly the right tone of voice, delivery and action to communicate release, freedom and, finally, return to repression. Charlie Dolbey was a charming Sky, whose redemption at the end of the play was believable.

The outstanding voice of the evening was that of Vance Campbell. As Nicely-Nicely Johnson, Campbell delivered a show-stopping "Sit Down, You're Rockin' the Boat."

Paul Lewis, as Nathan's sidekick, Benny Southstreet, created a character that was consistent and humorous.

The Hot Box Girls, in dances choreographed by Meg Webster, provided delighted, professional spectacles in "A Bushel and a Peck" and "Take Back Your Mink."

"Guys and Dolls" is a gambling show, and all of the gamblers, whether shooting craps, singing, dancing, or praying — reluctantly and after their fashion — created an air of excitement and joy.

Adding to this were the performances of the large cast. Costumes were hand-tailored and perfect for each part from the wide, garish ties and pin-striped suits of the gamblers to the beautiful wedding dress worn by Adelaide and the Salvation Army uniforms of the reformers.

The 20-piece orchestra, under the direction of Gary Hammer, was excellent, playing with a consistently lively tempo and never once drowning out the singers.

Ben Reavis, director of "Guys and Dolls," and Gary Hammer produced a show of professional quality with talented, serious performers. There was no gambling with this one. It was a winner all the way.

The reviewer is an English teacher at James M. Bennett Senior High School.

"Magis res mutant magis eaedem sunt"

"The more things change, the more they are the same." This theme is manifest in the relationship between ancient Rome and contemporary Washington, D.C. Today, the ideals of Roman law and administration survive within the institutions of American government. The magnificence of Rome has traversed time to become embodied in our nation's capital. Perhaps the most famous of all Roman edifices, the Colosseum, is illustrated on this banner as gradually merging with the image of the Capitol Building, the symbol of American democracy. Just as the waters of the Tiger could thus have Roman ideals been carried by the flow of time. The appropriate headdress of the banner is the traditional insignia of the Tenth Legion of Caesar, a circumscribed Roman numeral X. Finally, the crowning touch is the symbol of the majesty and freedom common to both Rome and Washington—the golden eagle.

INDOOR TRACK

Indoor track had a very successful season in both local competition and at the state and regional meets. Of the four large indoor meets held at the Civic Center, the boys' team finished in the top half in three; and finished their season by placing fourth in the region and ninth in the state. The girls' team won two of the local indoor meets, and were runners-up in the other two. In the regional meet, the girls finished second, only two points out of first place, and were eleventh in the state meet.

Due to the small number of participants in several of the indoor events, the success of the teams is best judged in terms of individual performances, where school records in over half of the events were broken. Especially outstanding at the state meet were Jim Sumstine's school record for the mile (4:29.6) and Karen Tossey's 1000 yard record (2:49.4).

A DEDICATION TO THE CLASS OF 82

TIME

It cannot be stopped, sped up

Nor slowed down.

For it has no speed.

It cannot be measured,

For it has no beginning

Nor has it an end

Yet we measure it.

It waits for no one,

Yet is always there.

It is the past, present and future

There is always so much of it,

Yet there is never enough.

It goes on fast,

It never stops

The present becomes past,

And the future becomes present.

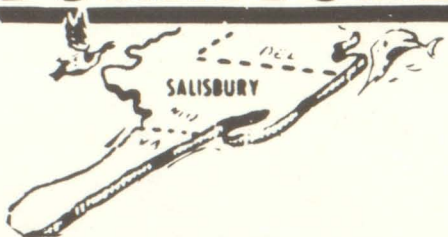

Use your time wisely

Don't take it for granted

In time, your time will come to an end.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank Miss Cooper, Mrs. Hudson, The Administration, and my staff. If it was not for all the hard work, long hours, and a lot of headaches we would never have gotten this yearbook off the ground.

I really appreciate all the support from my family and friends throughout this year. I wish the best of luck to next year's Editor and staff. I hope you enjoy working on the yearbook as much as I have. Good luck and thank you all so very much. I really do appreciate all the time and effort that you spent helping out. Thank you.

Best of Luck,

Mel
